

Eva Coen

Costume Designer

Born and raised in Rome, holds a Bachelor's degree in Art History from Sapienza University of Rome and a Master's degree in Contemporary Art from the University of Siena. Has achieved further studies at Harvard University, focusing on the relationship between Raffaello and Albrecht Durer. Has then completed her studies in France at Sorbonne University, on Fauvist artist André Derain and his designs for the theater.

Her career as costume designer started by creating costumes for contemporary dance companies; she has collaborated with choreographers such as Carolyn Carlson, Nina Watt, Wayne Mc Gregor, Ismael Ivo, Robyn Orlin, and Pina Bausch.

Her first steps in the film industry are as an assistant to costume designer Lina Nerli Taviani, on "Tu ridi", movie directed by the Taviani Brothers.

For the movie industry, her best works as costume designer include: 'Respiro' and 'Terraferma' direct by Emanuele Crialese; 'Notturmo Bus' and 'Lithium Conspiracy', direct by Davide Marengo; 'Il mattino ha l'oro in bocca' (English title: 'The Early Bird Catches The Worm') and 'Cose dell'altro mondo' ('Things From Another World') direct by Francesco Patierno. She has collaborated also with various TV directors: Stefano Sollima, Alexis Cahill, Lucio Pellegrini, Luca Ribuoli and Michele Soavi.

SKILLS

I have been immersed in the art world since my early childhood. My father, a violinist and composer, taught me to appreciate music. I started to sing almost for fun and then it became serious. With Klez Roym, we held concerts around the world.

Eva Coen

Costume Designer

But my true passion has always been costume and fashion. I love developing mood boards for my projects and learning from fashion archives whilst doing them. After more than 20 years of experience as a costume designer in the film and television industries I am a total advocate for the view that the primary function of contemporary costume as period costume is to tell the story and to bring fictional characters to life.

At an interpersonal level my skills include: budget awareness, creativity, being detail-oriented, a good team player with excellent organizational skills.
